

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An inventive electronic wallet management method is disclosed. It enables the wallet to be stored on a server, on a server access device or on a portable medium with full version control. It allows data to be entered into the wallet on the server access device or onto the server to maximize user convenience.